

The figure displays a circular plot with a grid of tick marks. Two overlapping ellipses are centered near the origin, representing the true distribution. Data points are plotted as blue and orange circles, with two small black squares marking the centers of the ellipses. The points are distributed around the ellipses, with some outliers.

